Established in 1993, the International Cooperation Center (ICC) of the National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC) is a government institution directly subordinate to NDRC. For over 20 years, ICC has set up following divisions: General Office. Strategic Research Division, International Cooperation Division, Planning and Production Capacity Cooperation Promotion Division, Information Division, International Training Division, Industry Development Division, Mechanism Cooperation Division, Division of Major Events Organization, Division of Foreign Communication, Cultural Research Institute. Regional Cooperation and Opening up Institute, Industrial Development Institution. Globalization Institute, etc. In recent years, ICC spared no effort to establish itself as a new-type think tank focused on international cooperation, planning and consulting, policy research, high-level training and human resource development cooperation program, so that ICC has played an important role in promoting "Belt and Road" construction, international production capacity cooperation, China's new urbanization construction and regional economic development.

About the Organizer

As a participant of the NDRC International Cooperation Joint Conference, a member of the National "Belt and Road Initiative" Leading Group Office, ICC focuses on major national strategies and key work of NDRC. Through expanding global view, grasping major trend. researching on major events and promoting key strategies, ICC implements major bilateral and multi-lateral cooperation mechanisms, explores mechanism and platform construction of international production capacity cooperation, and serves as a bridge and bond in going-out for Chinese companies.

Since China's economy has entered new normal stage at present, and the new and old momentum is changing, rapid developments take place in new industry, new type of business, new technology and new mode. Facing new economic growth trend, ICC aims at establishing new type international think tank, and actively makes research and judgement on economic trend and policy to provide intellectual support for policy and decisions of related companies, local governments and China. ICC is also active in building academic communication platform for gathering wisdom of reform and opening up, and brings its international advantages in developing high-level foreign academic activities.

Commissioned by the Ministry of Commerce of the P. R.C., the program is as follow:

Urban and rural construction and planning is a global, comprehensive and strategic mission which concerns varies areas including politics, economy, culture and social life. A great city planning needs to fit into the overall requirement of modernization construction and take about both present and future situation comprehensively. A series of relations should be handled well while making city plans, like the part and the whole, short and long period, needs and possibilities, economic construction and social development, city construction and environment conservation, modernization and historical heritage protection. Through strengthening and improving urbanization and city planning, we will promote healthy development of cities and create favorable working and living environment for well-beings.

Seminar

Content

China is now at a period of accelerated urbanization. We are faced with great historical opportunities and challenges as well, making the requirement even higher for governing capacity. During the development of marketing economy, urbanization economy is one of the major method for the government to implement macro regulation. The fundamental aim of urbanization construction and planning is to promote comprehensive development of society, economy and culture and upgrade consistently the living environment in both urban and rural areas. The planning of urbanization and the overall development of urban and rural areas can complement each other. Only when urban and rural areas prosper persistently, can the planning have its strong material foundation. Whether the urbanization planning is beneficial to comprehensive development and long-term development or not is our starting point and benchmark when examining urbanization planning work.

Being realistic means we must proceed from China's national condition and respective city's status quo. China has achieved great progress in recent years. GDP ranking has been on the top, but the basic national condition that China is still a developing country with large population and weak foundation hasn't changed. Every kind of urbanization planning including the choice of index, the standard of construction and the targets by stage must conform to that condition. China is a country which boasts vast territory and varies kind of cities, making the difference between cities and regions even bigger when it comes to the degree of economic and social development. The planning of urbanization can not be implemented by universal mode. It should be concrete and practical planning strategy which is characterized specifically for a single city.

Through the seminar, introduction of urbanization construction and planning experience would be given. We will discuss deeply about some issues that is to the developing country's interest. China is willing to share experience with developing countries, strengthen exchanges and cooperation, and make due contributions for promoting economic progress for developing countries.
